KRISTINA BADE STUDIO MADISON

Known for creating spaces that are visually stunning and highly functional, Kristina Bade Sweeney established her design studio in 2009. With a talent for fusing glamour, elegance, and casual sophistication, she attributes her skill set to a mix of bold personality, neo-traditionalist sensibility, and pertinent design experience. Although clientele tends to opt for a neo-traditional look, Bade Sweeney has worked on a variety of projects—from post-modern to rustic and classic traditional to deco-revival, mid-century, and even a chic martini bar style.

How does she approach design?

"I visually transport myself into the spaces I'm working on," she responded. "I ask questions such as, 'How do you want to feel when walking into the room? Is the room balanced with scale, texture, contrast, and light? Does everything work to meet my clients' programming needs? And finally, how can I take an ordinary detail and make it extraordinary?'"

Bade Sweeney's background in construction and hospitality design trained her to see form and function in a complex way rather than two-dimensionally. She has appeared on NBC's Open House with Sara Gore and her firm's work has been spotlighted in local design magazines. This spring, her company is designing custom homes.

Having worked for Wynn Design & Development, Bade Sweeney was integral in the process of creating the highly artistic, colorful space at Steve Wynn's Encore at Wynn Las Vegas and Wynn Macau, Forbes Five-Star and AAA Five Diamond properties. Other notable projects include Steve Wynn and Andrea Hissom's private Fairway Villa in Las Vegas and Golden Flower in Macau, as well as many of the custom chandeliers and furniture pieces that embellish the resorts. kristinabadestudio.com
